

CIRTL Graduate Teaching Assistant Position with Center for Teaching and Learning (Summer 2017 – Summer 2018)

The IUPUI Center for Teaching and Learning and the IUPUI Graduate Office invite applications for a Graduate Teaching Assistant who will support the development and delivery of programming connected to IU's affiliation with CIRTL, the Center for the Integration of Research, Teaching, and Learning. CIRTL is a network of 46 universities dedicated to the advancement of undergraduate education in STEM and other disciplines through the professional development of future faculty. IUPUI has developed extensive local programming as part of its membership in the CIRTL Network: <https://cirtl.iupui.edu/>. The Center for Teaching and Learning has also created a Canvas site to manage and track graduate student completion of CIRTL programming at IUPUI: <https://iu.instructure.com/courses/1595690>. Interested candidates should familiarize themselves with both websites prior to applying.

The TA will work closely with the CIRTL leadership in the Graduate Office and the CTL to assist in the planning, development, and facilitation of IUPUI's CIRTL programming in the following ways:

- Provide organizational support:
 - Design print and web promotional materials for CIRTL and CTL TA development events/programming
 - Update and manage the CIRTL at IUPUI website and Canvas course
 - Manage email correspondences with program participants and other program logistics
- Co-develop content for programming, which includes workshops, webinars, learning community meetings, etc.
- Co-present in CIRTL-related workshops and webinars
- Conduct research to locate and evaluate scholarly resources on teaching and learning
- Document the program development and evaluation data
- Perform other related tasks as assigned

Required Qualifications:

- At least one semester of experience as a graduate teaching assistant at IUPUI or other institutions
- Excellent organizational, communication, and research skills
- Enrolled in a graduate program at IUPUI

Preferred Qualifications:

- Completion of a pedagogy course
- Genuine interest in faculty and future-faculty professional development in higher education
- Currently pursuing or interested in STEM education research
- Experience with scholarship of teaching and learning
- Expected graduation date is on or after Spring 2019

Graduate students in STEM-focused disciplines, Liberal Arts, Social Sciences, and especially Education are encouraged to apply. This position will report to the IUPUI Center for Teaching and Learning. Compensation will include health insurance and tuition remission.

Please submit a letter of interest in no less than 300 words clearly indicating your qualifications for the position and why this position will benefit your longer-term career goals, a CV/Résumé, and 3 references with contact information to Dr. Anusha Rao at asathyan@iupui.edu.

Incomplete applications will not be reviewed. Review of applications will begin immediately, and the successful candidate will begin on approximately June 15th.

Time Commitment: 15-20 hrs. per wk.

Duration: June 2017 – June 2018
